SEVEN GAMES AT SCOTTISH GAS MURRAYFIELD NEXT SEASON

Autumn Nations Series 2024

The Autumn Nations Series returns to Scottish Gas Murrayfield this year (there was no series last year because of Rugby World Cup) and Scotland fans can look forward to four fantastic games, including a welcome return from the current World Champions South Africa, and a first ever visit from the team that dazzled fans at last year's Rugby World Cup in France.

v FIJI

Saturday 2 November, 5.40pm

Always an entertaining game against the popular South Sea Islanders, Scotland scored four tries the last time the Flying Fijians came to Scottish Gas Murrayfield. Having famously beaten England in the build-up to last year's Rugby World Cup, Fiji went on to beat Australia in the tournament itself before being knocked out at the quarter-final stage. A fantastic game to kick off this year's Autumn Nations Series.

v SOUTH AFRICA

Sunday 10 November, 4.10pm

The challenge doesn't get much bigger than facing the Springboks, the current World Champions who lifted the Rugby World Cup last year for the second consecutive time, becoming the only team to win the trophy four times. It's been three years since South Africa were last here, when two wonderful Stuart Hogg tries weren't enough to win (although he did equal Scotland's try total that day). A huge game in prospect.

v PORTUGAL

Saturday 16 November, 3.10pm

Scotland and Portugal have met once before at this level (at Rugby World Cup 2007) but this is a first visit to Scottish Gas Murrayfield for the team that lit up last year's Rugby World Cup. Having drawn with Georgia in one of the most exciting games of the tournament, Portugal then went on to cause one of the biggest upsets in the tournament's history when they beat Fiji 24-23. A wonderful opportunity to welcome the latest sensations on the international stage.

v AUSTRALIA

Sunday 24 November, 1.40pm

Always entertaining, this is one of the most popular fixtures at Scottish Gas Murrayfield. Two years ago Scotland were going for three home wins on the bounce against the Wallabies only to lose agonisingly by a single point after outscoring the visitors by two tries to one. What a way to end the series!

Guinness Six Nations 2025

Scotland kick off the 2025 Guinness Six Nations Championship with two home games. First up is Italy on Saturday 1 February, kick-off 2.15pm (with the following game Ireland v England on the big screen in the West Fan Village afterwards) then the following weekend we welcome Ireland to Scottish Gas Murrayfield (Sunday 9 February, kick-off 3pm). The final home game is against Wales on Saturday 8 March, kick-off 4.45pm (with the Ireland v France on in the West Fan Village beforehand).

v ITALY

Saturday 1 February, 2.15pm

The last time Italy came to Scottish Gas Murrayfield, a Blair Kinghorn hat-trick helped Scotland to a 26-14 win. This season's two-point loss in Rome (despite out-scoring Italy 4 tries to 3) will act as an extra motivator to kick-off the 2025 Guinness Six Nations in winning style.

v IRELAND

Sunday 9 February, 3pm

For many the best team in the world for the last two years, Ireland followed last season's Grand Slam with another Championship win this year. Scotland will be looking to emulate the 2017 team that beat Ireland at Scottish Gas Murrayfield, courtesy of two great Stuart Hogg tries and a cheeky lineout intrusion from one of the backs... Remember that one?

v WALES

Saturday 8 March, 4.45pm

Scotland recorded their biggest winning margin against Wales two years ago at Scottish Gas Murrayfield (35-7) and then, this year won in Cardiff for the first time in 22 years, racing into an incredible 27-0 lead, before a stirring Welsh comeback took the hosts back to within a point.
